Dear Children of Burton Joyce Primary School,

Hi guys how are you all doing? I hope you have had another good week and have been busy working your way through your school tasks and doing some exercise every day.

Thank you again to those of you who have emailed me or your teachers and sent photos and videos of the things you have been doing. I've been very impressed again this week with the incredible variety of brilliant things you have done. I've watched an amazing gymnastic video and heard some wonderful singing, to name but a few!

I also wanted to say a big thank you to all of you have continued to do kind things for other people. Some of you have written letters and sent cards to people on their own. A few of you have been part of fundraising for people less fortunate than ourselves. I'd expect nothing less from the children of Burton Joyce Primary School. You, as always, set a wonderful example to others and everyone at school is very proud of you indeed! Keep up the fantastic work!

Don't forget you can contact me anytime by emailing:-

You don't have to send me pictures you can just simply email for a chat. I'd love to hear from you!

The few children who were in school last week, were busy adding to our display on the school fence – I think you'll agree it looks great!

Next to my house is a field, which has been empty for a while, but last week I was very excited to discover, on one of many walks, there were some new arrivals in it. Of course, I had to take a picture for you! There were 2 new young calves... they are so cute! However, you will see from the pictures it didn't quite go to plan as mummy cow wanted to have a good look at my phone and have a big fuss and stroke!

On other animal news, when I arrived at school this morning I noticed something odd on the office window. When I looked more closely I could see the imprint of an owl! It must have flown into the window. Don't worry it must have been ok and flew off again. You will need to look carefully to see it.

I know we have been in 'lockdown' for a while now and you would like to know when things can get back to normal and you can see your teachers and friends. Unfortunately, at the moment we still don't know when this will be. Hopefully it won't be too long now. Remember the story from assembly where the girl and boy fall out about the remote control for the TV – do you remember it? They had to find ways to keep calm such as counting to 20, having a bit of time by themselves or drawing pictures. If you ever feel a bit frustrated or fed up why don't you try one of these, you never know it might help.

Please try to keep working hard and behaving well for your grown-ups. Remember we are all trying to do our bit and we must keep looking after each other.

If you need me, you know where I am.

Keep smiling you wonderful things!

Take care,

Mrs. Cook
