Dear Parents/Carers,

I hope this Friday finds you and your families well and I hope you are still managing to juggle work, childcare, home schooling, looking after relatives, neighbours... the list I know goes on.

I understand some have found this week a bit of a challenge, perhaps this has been due to the more inclement weather or length of the lockdown now I'm not sure. Remember we can only do so much, these are unprecedented times, the like of which we have not experienced before so we need to be kind to ourselves as well as others.

We have made it through another week! Your support and messages and emails from the children have certainly helped to keep spirits high here. Thank you!

I have asked the teachers to ring your child next week. This is nothing to worry about but rather it will hopefully be chance for teachers to talk to the children to see how they are doing and an opportunity for the children to ask their teacher about any work they might be struggling with. It might also help to motivate those who are a little reluctant on the school work front!

I'm going to keep it short and sweet today (famous last words!) as I'm very much hoping that I may receive information during the next week about next steps for school in terms of some sort of return. I will of course contact you when I do.

The next grid of activities for your child will be sent today and I will send the children a letter on Monday again for you to share. Don't forget there are lots of links to resources and online learning on the website. Also, within the Parent tab there is updated e-safety information and ways to keep children safe online which you may find useful.

Thank you again to all for your ongoing support.

Keep well and take care,

Mrs. Cook
