Dear Parents and Carers,

As promised, I am writing to you following yesterday's briefing from Boris Johnson. Unfortunately, I haven't yet received any additional information at all. The only information I have is what I heard him announce during the update, which I'm sure you will have heard or read about yourselves already. I am so sorry I can't tell you anymore detail at this time.

I am assuming that school leaders will at some point receive more detail about what a possible phased return might look like. There will obviously be many implications for us to consider before we can open. There is much speculation about what these considerations are but at this time that is simply all they all, a guess!

As always, when I do get any further information or any details at all I will let you know but for now we must carry on as we are. I know it is hard for you and for our children. I am sending another letter for you to share with your children this afternoon where I have very briefly explained the above them to. Feel free to not show them this if you do not feel it appropriate. However, for our older children I thought it might be useful. I will leave it to you to share at your discretion.

Thank you again for your continued support and positive feedback, it is very much appreciated.

Keep well everyone and look after each other.

Take care,

Mrs. Cook
